Preface

Dear Friends of the German Language,

I am very pleased to announce the newest addition to our offerings: the high school textbook series Portfolio Deutsch. The solidly grounded approach of the textbook along with its authentic and exciting photos, texts, recordings and exercises will inspire and delight both you and your students.

For the college level, our textbook series Berliner Platz NEU continues on the successful path of its earlier version with an updated, streamlined new edition and additional items in the Student Pack: The DVD and Cultural Reader featuring exemplary cultural and linguistic differences within the German-speaking countries.

Aspekte, our intermediate textbook series seamlessly builds on the acquired skills and expands the students' horizons about the German-speaking world. All of the material is supported by additional online components.

These new materials, along with our entire selection of German language products, are not only highly recommended for their structured approach, authenticity and wealth of exercises and activities, but they will also be a lot of fun for your students. Please visit our website for free downloads, worksheets and other language activities as well as additional information about all of our German language products.

Our U.S. service team will be glad to assist you in finding the material for your specific learners' group.

With my very best wishes for a happy holiday season and a successful New Year,

Portfolio Deutsch

Portfolio Deutsch

Textbook Series for High School German

The newest beginning German textbook series for high school/middle school students brings up-to-date material and structured exercises to the classroom. Correlated both to the U.S. National Standards and the European Standards.

German is made easy with English directions and explanations and put immediately into practice with a wealth of activities and exercises. Grammar is imbedded in context and students learn to connect structures with meaning.

Listening comprehension and pronunciation exercises as well as grammar exercises are presented both as distinct practice and as integrated activities making them authentic and stimulating.

The vocabulary trainer CD-ROM practices the vocabulary almost effortlessly as it recycles the words according to schedule to commit the vocabulary to long-term memory.

Topics

The topics focus on self-expression starting with introductions, speaking about myself, my family, my friends and my immediate environment, and branching out to sports, the internet, fashions etc. Texts and dialogs are spiraled in level 2 and become increasingly more sophisticated and complex and entice students to venture out into the world of German on their own.

Structure

The textbook is subdivided into two sections:

- "Classwork" introduces the topics, vocabulary and grammatical structures in the context of the given chapter. The material is practiced in individual, paired and group activities with various audio components.
- In the "My Portfolio" section the material from the "Classwork" section is mirrored with additional practice to reinforce the material. The exercises are correlated to the Language Portfolio which helps students make the connection between effort and achievement.

The topics with vocabulary and structures from Portfolio Deutsch 1 are spiraled and expanded in Portfolio Deutsch 2 via the development of more independent language use.

German for High School/Junior High

This popular textbook series for the secondary level was designed according to the U.S. National Standards and the new European Standard (Framework of Reference). It provides a solid basis of structural components along with culturally authentic material. Designed according to the Baukastenprinzip, it allows teacher and students to mix and match the various materials according to needs, abilities and aspirations. geni@l, with all its stimulating internet projects and links to authentic German sites, is the most ingenious way for young students to learn German.

Structure

- Each textbook features 12 chapters plus 3 review chapters.
- The grammatical concepts are introduced through context and extensively practiced in various exercises which recycle and spiral the newly learned concepts for reinforcement.
- Pronunciation exercises (intonation, word and sentence emphasis) are incorporated throughout the units.
- The varied chapters are short, made up of twelve pages each, with numerous opportunities for speaking.

Content

- The topics are young and culturally authentic, and include the latest in communications technology (e-mail, internet projects, online activities, etc.).
- The material is appealing and challenging and strikes the delicate balance between the linguistic level of competency and the mental abilities and topical interests of high school age students.
- The DVDs for geni@l enable students to understand more through movement, gestures and facial expressions, with both verbal and non-verbal communication.
- The Videotrainer includes additional in-depth exercises and also allows extra-curricular work with the DVD.
- The geni@l A2 DVD includes additional worksheets.

Concept

- Clearly defined goals at the beginning of each chapter make the learning process transparent for teacher and student.
- The program advances sequentially and transitions smoothly from one level to the next.
- The series is correlated to the U.S. National Standards and additionally prepares the student for the Zertifikat Deutsch.

DER GRÜNE MAX

Der grüne Max

German for Young Learners (Age 9-11)

This enjoyable textbook series is designed for young children entering the world of foreign languages in a playful and motivating manner. It includes the textbook, workbook and audio material for the learner, and an interactive CD-ROM has recently been added to this program. The teacher's manual includes many helpful hints for the instructor. The material is geared towards children who are new to the language as well as to those who already use some German at home and would like further instruction. It introduces the young learner to all four skills and makes him/her aware of language learning techniques and transfer skills. The material makes it easy for the teacher to use in the classroom with learners of different levels according to the students' abilities and needs.

Meine Freunde und ich

German for Young Children

T. Sieber, R. Benati, G. Kniffka, G. Siebert-Ott

Meine Freunde und ich is aimed at children who are not native German speakers and who are moving from pre-school and kindergarten to primary school. It is designed as a basis for further language teaching measures.

Concept

The aim of the language work is not only to improve the oral language skills, but also to initiate the exposure to writing. The course contains playful activities such as painting, dancing and singing as well as handicrafts activities to enhance the fine motor skills.

Components

Teacher's Manual with copy templates and CD included, portfolio binder for children (to collect the exercise sheets) and picture cards.

Berliner Platz NEU

College Textbook for Beginning German

The material guides the student gently in the language acquisition process via a structured approach and a smooth topic-oriented progression. Pronunciation is practiced extensively via the audio and DVD material, and the directions in the workbook with learning strategies and grammatical concepts are clearly explained in English.

Structure

- The material is correlated with both the ACTFL Proficiency Guidelines as well as the Common European Framework of Reference.
- The textbook/workbook features 12 chapters plus 4 review chapters.

Concept

- The textbook/workbook introduces the material via picture prompts, dialogues and short texts. The material is practiced in individual, paired and group activities, and reinforced through homework assignments in the workbook section.
- The DVD offers authentic scenes from the topics which were covered in the chapters. Students view them and review them on their laptops and check for comprehension in the transcripts.
- The DVD works on multiple levels: The students watch actors playing the role for learners of beginning German using clearly accentuated German. In the second part, the students watch the same actors as they go about their daily lives, using much of the same structures in an authentic setting at the normal rate of speech.
- The cultural reader provides additional information about Germany, Austria and Switzerland in context.
- The various D-A-CH Fenster on several topics show language variants.

Berliner Platz

Berliner Platz

Beginning to Intermediate Textbook Series for Three Levels

The series is functionally driven and allows the teacher and students to mix and match the different components to form and express their own meaning. Level 3 of Berliner Platz prepares students for the Zertifikat Deutsch by practicing language skills using the same type of exercise formats as in the Zertifikat Deutsch exam.

Structure

- Each of the volumes contains a textbook and a workbook section and an appendix with an answer key.
- The textbook offers an easily accessible approach to the German language.
- "Service stations" help review and reinforce vocabulary and structures.

Content

- The topics focus on everyday life (and preparation for everyday life) in a German-speaking environment.

Concept

- The smooth progression and clear exercise typology are oriented towards the needs of students with little or no experience in learning a foreign language.
- The starting pages for the chapters have a strong visual image to promote spontaneous understanding of the subject matter.
- Suggestions for project work provide motivation on the active application of skills, e.g. in actual everyday situations.
- Special emphasis is placed on training pronunciation.

Additional material

The "Intensive Trainer" offers additional vocabulary and grammar exercises to provide differentiation options within similar learner groups.

Optimal

Optimal

Textbook for German

The first D-A-CH textbook which gives equal attention to the three German-speaking countries. The Swiss, Austrian and German author team based this newest textbook series on the Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR) and the ACTFL Proficiency Guidelines. Optimal follows a functionally driven curriculum, making goals transparent for the learner and teacher every step of the way. While it utilizes the student's world knowledge, it engages him/her in the process of discovering new linguistic patterns and structures. All components of the series take an integrated approach toward the acquisition of functional patterns and grammatical structures in conjunction with encouraging reflection about linguistic and cultural similarities and differences. The textbook is divided into 12 chapters covering topics of everyday life in Switzerland, Austria and Germany. Each chapter is subdivided into integrated units of authentic cultural topics, vocabulary and expressions, grammar, pronunciation, and practice and review. Each page in the textbook is mirrored by a corresponding page in the workbook (with Audio-CD).

Aspekte

AspekteTextbook Series for Intermediate/Advanced

This new intermediate/advanced DVD-based textbook series is designed for the development of vocabulary, grammatical structures and conversation. Material is placed in context through various topics which are viewed from different angles via interactive exercises, various text forms, and interviews. At the core of this program is a DVD which features authentic clips from German TV and serves as a springboard for the various exercises and activities in each chapter.

Structure

- The chapters have a modular structure. It enables the instructor to teach the material either in linear or non-sequential order.
- Content and grammatical structures are clearly outlined at the beginning of each chapter for easy access and convenient overview.
- The workbook contains additional exercises as well as tools for self-evaluation. The DVD advances listening comprehension skills via short sequences which are linked to photo-prompts and exercises in the textbook.

Content

- Topics are introduced in 10 chapters under various aspects. They include: Wohnwelten (Baumhaus; Obdachlosigkeit; Hotel Mama; König Ludwig II), Gesundheit (Fast Food-Slow Food; Lachyoga; Schokolade; Stress), Kaufen und Konsum (Supermarkt; Konsumgesellschaft; Reklamation und Beschwerde; Billa Österreichs grösster Supermarkt) etc.
- Review of previously learned structures and concepts is emphasized.
- It prepares the learner for reading longer authentic German texts.
- Photos and visual materials at the beginning of each chapter facilitate the entry into the new topic.
- Each module presents and practices effective learning strategies for all four skills.
- New vocabulary is introduced in meaningful and engaging contexts which stimulate discussion.
- The DVD heightens the interest via culturally authentic material. An examination chapter with sample DVD is available upon request.

Felix & Theo

Easy Readers for German in 3 Stages

The series was designed according to the following premise: Students like the feeling of accomplishment in having read an entire book in the foreign language - even beginners who usually have to wait until they become more proficient.

The main character is consistent: Private eye Helmut Müller and his secretary Bea Braun encounter various mysteries and crimes in Germany, Switzerland and Austria. Each time, they are called upon to solve the puzzle as the reader follows their adventure. The books lend themselves to different students reading various books and reporting to one another.

There is an exercise section in the appendix and cultural notes to help the reader understand the content. The series has three different levels of difficulty.

Level 1 minimum of 50 hours required

Level 2 minimum of 100 hours required

Level 3 minimum of 150 hours required

All books are illustrated.

German Practice Grammar for Beginning to Intermediate

P. Rusch, H. Schmitz

A grammar exercise book for students who wish to refresh or consolidate their basic knowledge and like to be entertained by short stories and cartoons while doing so. Drawings, e-mails, short texts or dialogues introduce the grammar phenomena situationally. Alongside clearly laid out descriptions, the students also find rules which in parts need to be completed. In this way, a conscious exploration of the grammar phenomenon in question is achieved. Varied exercises, marked according to levels A1, A2 and B1, consolidate the grammar competence on these levels.
